President Orders Draft Review of Occupational Deferments

Tells Hershey and McNutt Armed Forces Are Falling 200,000 Behind Planned Goals.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb 26—President Roosevelt, estimating the armed forces were still short approximately 200,000 trained men, today ordered a review of all occupational deferments "with a view to speedily making available" the personnel required to carry on the war.

The President sent a memorandum to Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the war manpower commission, and Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, saying selective service "has not delivered the quantity of men who were expected."

"The shortage which commenced to develop last September reached a total of 200,000 on Dec. 31," he added. "This means that today we are still short approximately 200,000 trained men although the actual personnel shortage in the Army has been reduced to 150,000."

Urging that agriculture and industry release younger men physically qualified for military service, the President said the Army will not reach its planned January strength until some time in April or even later if selective service "continues to fall behind on its quotas."

Pool Is Depleted

The President said the nation's manpower pool has been dangerously depleted by liberal deferments.

The shortage of men for the armed service was discussed yesterday by Hershey, who used the same 200,000 figure as the President. He said the armed forces need 1,200,000 men by July 1 to reach the planned goal of 11,300,000, and added the 200,000 represented the number of men not to be had from preferred sources. Of that number he said a large percentage must come from among younger men holding occupational deferments, and farmers who cannot show they are contributing "substantially" to the wartime food pool.

Hershey, discussing the situation before the senate agriculture committee, said 60 per cent of those sent to induction stations nowadays are failing to pass physical examinations, presumably because of the higher average age.

The President's memorandum asserted:

"The crucial campaigns of this year will determine both the length of this war and its price in men and goods. We are well equipped in food and munitions but their production has drawn over heavily on our stock of manpower. It is time to strike a new balance.

"The armed forces have continuously adjusted their requirements to the minimum necessary to implement strategic plans. Initial estimates have been reduced by over half a million men. Recently the Army has had to withdraw the great majority of men who were receiving instruction in colleges.

"The present allocations of personnel to the armed forces cannot be further reduced, and there is a very real danger in our failure to supply trained replacements at the time and in the numbers required.

"Selective service has not delivered the quantity of men who were expected. The shortage which commenced to develop last September reached a total of 200,000 on December 31. This means that today we are still short approximately 200,000 trained men although the actual personnel shortage in the army has been reduced to 150,000.

College Courses Cut

"Today, as a result, we are forced to emasculate college courses and trained divisions and other units. The Army will not reach its planned January strength until some time in April, or even later if selective service continues to fall behind on its quotas.

"The nation's manpower pool has been dangerously depleted by liberal deferments and I am convinced that in this respect we have been overly lenient, particularly with regard to the younger men. The average men, the physically disqualified, the returned soldier, and the women of the nation must be used more effectively to replace the able-bodied men in critical industry and agriculture.

"Almost 5,000,000 men have been deferred for occupational reasons. Deferments for industry include over a million non-fathers, of whom 380,000 are under 26 years of age. Of almost a million non-fathers deferred in agriculture, over 550,000 are under 26.

"Agriculture and industry should release the younger men who are physically qualified for military service. The present situation is so grave that I feel that the time has come to review all occupational deferments with a view to speedily making available the personnel required by the armed forces."

HARDING TO MEET NEWARK IN TOURNEY

Game To Be Played Tuesday Night at Delaware.

Harding High school will play its first game in the Class A district tournament at Delaware Tuesday night at 8 against Newark, which last year defeated Harding in the district tourney finals and then went on to win the Class A championship of Ohio.

The winner of the Marion-Newark game will meet Mt. Vernon Friday night at 9:30. Mt. Vernon drew a bye.

These pairings were drawn at Delaware today, and at the same time final arrangements were made to play the district tourney games in Edwards gymnasium at Delaware. All games will be at night.

The Marion-Newark game will be the second one on the district tourney calendar. The first will match two Columbus teams at 7.

Bexley, Newark, Columbus South and Upper Arlington are seeded teams and will not meet one another until late stages of the tournament. Marion Harding was not seeded this year for the first time in several years.

GERMANS PRESS ON BEACHHEAD

Pressure Maintained by Nazis, One Attack Is Thrown Back by Allies.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS NAPLES, Feb 26—The Germans maintaining steady pressure on the allied beachhead below Rome, harassed American and British forces with shells and bombs but were knocked back in their single small attack yesterday, headquarters announced today.

The ineffective Nazi stab was made on the allied right flank in the Pontine marsh area about four miles from the coast at a point south of Cisterna and west of Littoria. Taking advantage of the prime terrain near Carroceto on the other end of the beachhead, the Nazis tried unsuccessfully to slip through the allied lines.

Storm Sweeps Cassino

High winds sweeping the mountains on the Cassino front together with snow flurries helped keep that sector more or less stationary, but the Germans again attacked a French-held hill northwest of Cassino and again were thrown back. On this front as well as on the beachhead heavy guns of both sides kept up their endless shellings.

Indian troops of the Eighth army threw back three separate night attacks near Orsogna. Allied artillery fire also broke up an enemy raid at another point in the Orsogna area and a patrol inflicted casualties on the Germans in a clash north of Arielli, between Orsogna and the Adriatic coast.

LANDON CALLS FOR WHITE HOUSE CHANGE

By The Associated Press

TOPEKA, Kas., Feb. 26—Alf M. Landon interpreted the tax veto battle as evidence of increasing friction between congress and the President and suggested today "Mr. Roosevelt should be unhitched and a willing and able teammate be substituted."

"A new President—Democrat or Republican—would not have a suspicious and unfriendly congress to work with as Mr. Roosevelt must have from now on," the 1936 Republican presidential nominee declared in a statement.

"A new commander-in-chief who will not be contemptuous of his followers and who will not confuse his legislative leaders so they will be marching right when

JAPS HAVE FEW ISLAND BASES YET UNBOMBED

Attack on Guam on Feb. 22 Widens Scope of South-central Pacific Raids.

By The Associated Press

Few of Japan's cluster of island fortresses remained untouched today in the barrage of American attacks shaking the enemy's control of the south-central Pacific.

Disclosure that Guam was attacked in the Feb. 22 carrier strike at the Marianas islands widened the scope of the present offensive. It added to the havoc left at Truk and other Caroline islands, and to destruction piled up in the Marshalls where the Nipponese have been forced out of two important atolls.

Success of the Marianas raid, an operation carrying American forces within 1400 miles of Tokyo, appeared even greater in the light of the fact that the Japanese detected the approaching task force in the afternoon of Feb. 21. But Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, reporting full details of the heavy foray, declared persistent and continuing attacks" by the enemy failed to stop the launching of American planes "according to schedule."

Russia Watching

Moscow dispatches indicated that Russia, although not at war with Japan, is still keeping a watchful eye on developments in the Pacific. The Soviet army newspaper, Red Star, in a review of the Marshalls campaign, noted it was "very significant" that Japan was losing Islands (Kwajalein and Eniwetok) which had been fortified for more than 20 years. Tass news agency quoted the Tokyo Shimbun as saying "anything can happen in Tokyo" as a result of the American offensive.

There was no let up in the South Pacific campaign to obliterate the key Japanese base of Rabaul, New Britain, while allied attacks damaged enemy positions on nearby New Ireland, Hansa Bay, New Ireland, and the Admiralty islands.

Another 33 tons of bombs dropped on Rabaul Wednesday raised to 1,829 the total tonnage for 23 days this month. For the fourth straight day, the Japanese sent up no aerial interception, possibly because of the loss of 793 planes there since the present allied drive began last Dec. 17.

The Japanese lost 135 planes in combat and on the ground in the sweep of Rear Admiral Marc A. Mitscher's carrier force against the southern Marianas islands of Tinian, Saipan and Guam, the little American possession seized by the enemy in December, 1941. In the Feb. 16-17 assault on mighty Truk, 640 miles southeast of Guam, carrier planes and warships destroyed 201 enemy aircraft and sank 19 ships for certain.

Comparison of Losses

Seventeen American planes were lost at Truk, only six in the Marianas. No ships have been lost in the operations. At Saipan and Tinian, two enemy vessels were sunk and nine damaged.

COLLETT TRIAL ORDERED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON C. H., O., Feb. 26—Common Pleas Judge H. M. Rankin today denied a defense motion that the first degree murder trial of James W. Collett be postponed indefinitely. The accused slayer of the rich Elmer McCoy family last Thanksgiving eve will go on trial Monday under protest.

U. S. Forces Lose 6 Planes, No Ships in Marianas Raid

Navy Escapes with Light Losses Despite Fact Japs Knew Attack Was Coming on Island Bases.

By The Associated Press

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 26—The battle-experienced American task force which raided 3,800 miles west of Pearl Harbor Tuesday to strike at the Marianas, less than 1,500 miles from Tokyo, wiped out 135 Japanese planes soared against shipping, caused heavy destruction—and didn't lose a warship.

Disclosures of these results by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz were permitted by lifting of the radio silence protecting the fleet's movements. The warships were not even damaged despite the fact their approach was detected the day before the attack and enemy torpedo planes repeatedly tried to sink them.

Only six out of hundreds of attacking carrier planes were lost.

Guam, American outpost occupied by Japan at the war's outset, was bombed for the first time.

The elusive Japanese fleet wasn't found at Saipan-Tanapag harbor—as it also has been in great strength at recently bombed Truk—but a cargo ship was sunk, another damaged and beached, a third set afire, a patrol craft blown up, and seven small boats damaged.

Runways, seaplane aprons, airdrome facilities, fuel dumps and buildings were bombed heavily during the attacks on Saipan, Tinian and Guam.

Duplicate Truk Blow

The task force sent against the Marianas duplicated the Feb. 16-17 feat at Truk of successfully flanking capital ships deep inside Japan's island defenses.

The task force caught Truk, naval bastion in the Carolines, by surprise. But the task force moving on Saipan and Tinian, 700 miles northwest of Truk, was detected the afternoon of Feb. 21.

All that night and the following morning, Japanese land-based planes kept after the oncoming naval units. The warships put up a terrific anti-aircraft screen, bagging 10 planes. Covering aircraft shot down five more.

The carriers' torpedo bombers and dive bombers twice swept down on Saipan and on the nearby naval air base island of Tinian, in smaller force, they hit Guam, 120 miles south of Saipan.

Despite being forewarned, 87 Japanese planes were wiped out on the ground, 29 in combat.

The stirring action occurred more than 1,500 miles west of the nearest American base in the Marshalls.

The 135 planes bagged in the Marianas were added to 201 destroyed during the two-day attack on Truk. The bag of enemy ships at Truk was much better—between 19 and 28.

946 IN WEEK-DAY RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

Church Council Considers Enlarging New Program.

In a meeting of members of the Marion County Council of Churches at the Y.M.C.A. Thursday night action taken dealt with three major items under consideration by the group. Members voted regarding a proposed countywide "conference on world government," the possibility of enlarging the program of weekday religious education of the public schools was considered and plans were made for setting up a special meeting in cooperation with youth leaders of the city and county to consider juvenile delinquency.

Rev. E. M. Hertzler gave a report on progress in the Marion schools of the week-day religious instruction which was opened in the schools last fall. In the fifth and sixth grades of 11 schools, 946 pupils were enrolled, he states. A 100 per cent enrollment was marked in 17 out of 23 classes. The council of Churches bought 125 Bibles to be used in the schools and the local chapter of the Gideon society presented the Council with 60 Bibles for use of the schools.

The meeting voted appointment of a committee to study the possibilities of making a budget [illegible] of the Council [illegible] only [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

"Thou Art the Christ"

A Sermonette
By REV. M. E. HOLLENSEN
Pastor of Emanuel Lutheran Church

"And Simon Peter answered and said, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God."—Matt. 16:16.

WE ARE now in that period of the church year called the Lenten season. It is a time of preparation for Easter, for the glorious resurrection of our Lord from the dead. A period of approximately six weeks, it is intended to be for us a season of meditation and prayer. Especially during these days are we to draw near to Jesus and come to a closer understanding regarding Him. In fact, the very purpose of the Passiontide is that we may be led to confess or reaffirm a definite truth concerning the Son of man.

And what is that truth that Jesus wants us to hold concerning Him? Unless we believe about Jesus what He so desires; unless we come to that conviction during this present Lenten season, we are missing the very aim of these weeks, and for us, therefore, the Passiontide is in vain. Jesus wants us to believe and to make the same confession that Peter did, namely, that He is the Christ. When we believe with our hearts that Jesus is the Christ, we can rest assured that we are keeping the Lenten season aright, and are fulfilling its very purpose.

Why is it so important that we believe that Jesus is the Christ? This must be our conviction about Jesus because:

I. JESUS ALONE IS THE CHRIST

The word "Christ" is the Greek for the Hebrew word "Messiah." Both words, that is "Christ" and "Messiah," mean "The Anointed One," or "The Designated One." Jesus, therefore, is the one person who has been anointed by the Father, designated by God, to be the Savior of the world. No one else has ever been so chosen, except Jesus. The Father has placed the entire task of redeeming the world in the hands of His Son, Jesus Christ. And Jesus was surely qualified to be the Anointed One, because Jesus was the very Son of God. Jesus was the eternal Son of the blessed Trinity, who came to earth and assumed human nature, in order to be the world's Sin-bearer. It must follow, therefore, that since Jesus alone, the Designated One, is our Savior, we are not qualified to be our own savior from sin. Had the Father not chosen Jesus as the Messiah, salvation for the world would be impossible. Without Christ, as the Anointed One, deliverance from sin, death and hell would be out of the question for all of us. We see, therefore, why it is important that during the Passion Season we either come to confess Jesus as the Christ, or else pray the Holy Spirit to lead us to a fuller understanding of this glorious fact.

Why is it so important that we believe that Jesus is the Christ? This must be our conviction about Jesus because:

II. JESUS ALONE, AS THE CHRIST, HAS REDEEMED US.

Jesus, the Anointed One, came to earth to buy us sinners back for God. He came to satisfy the justice of our heavenly Father. To that end, Jesus took the guilt of the entire world upon Himself, and by keeping the divine law in our stead, cancelled the guilt of all men. Then, Jesus took the punishment that we and all men rightfully deserve, and on Calvary's cross bore it in our behalf. Thus by His perfect life and sufferings and death, Jesus as our Christ atoned for the sins of the world. Hence, since Jesus is the Christ, ours is the assurance of knowing that every demand of the Father's justice upon us is met wholly and completely in Christ. There is no demand of the Father, but that it is forever satisfied in Jesus. We see the importance of believing that Jesus is the Christ when we behold that Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believe. How important, then, that during this Lenten season we grow more fully in the truth that Jesus is the Christ, or come for the first time in our life to a faith in Jesus as the Christ.

Why is it so important that we believe that Jesus is the Christ? This must be our conviction about Jesus because:

III. JESUS ALONE, AS THE CHRIST, HAS SALVATION TO GIVE.

Since Jesus is the one chosen by the Father to be our Savior, and He in turn has done the job in its entirety, it certainly follows that salvation is a gift which Christ alone is able to bestow. It is our desire to live beyond the grave; it is our heartfelt longing that life in the world to come should be wonderous and beautiful and joyous. To the Christian who believes in Christ, all of these yearnings become realities. Christ has by His merits fulfilled the demands of divine justice, so that our heavenly Father bestows on all who believe that Jesus is the Christ, the gift of life and salvation. We do not purchase this gift—to attempt such would be to cast aspersion on the sufferings and death of Jesus. Ours is the joy of confessing our sins to God, and by believing that Christ is our Saviour, to receive in view of our faith the blessedness of eternal deliverance from hell unto eternal life.

May this season of Lent be a time of spiritual growth for all of us. If we have not come to see that Jesus is the Christ, let us make use of the church and the Word of God so that we may come to this saving knowledge. If we, like Peter of old, by the power of the Holy Spirit, are able to confess that Jesus is the Christ, let us make use of the church and the Word of God, so that our faith may be strengthened in this most important of all truths. Amen.

One of the prime factors contributing to a complete and proper funeral service, is the appearance of the remains.
A life-like and natural appearance is brought about not by mere chance. The degree of success achieved is directly dependent upon the ability and skill of the embalmer.
The satisfaction expressed to us by bereaved families, and the full hearted approval by them of the efforts of our thoroughly trained embalmers, is, we feel a tribute to our claim of truly professional service.

Jack Benny To Get New Sponsor Next Year

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 26—Jack Benny can change sponsors in the midst of a career and hold his same time on the network, as he has announced from Hollywood he is doing for next season, because he has a contract rare in radio.

Jack, rather than the sponsor, "owns" the half-hour he uses on NBC Sunday at 6 p. m. under an option arrangement. Then, when he takes on a new sponsor he doesn't have to move around to some other spot that might prove least in a change in his listening audience. It is understood that by this shift he will increase the price he has program, complete from [illegible]

Your Red Cross Dollars Help Them!

None of us can be blind to the fact that war isn't all glory and victory for our side. And our many thousands of prisoners of war in Germany and Japan would only suffer with greater intensity — from loneliness, malnutrition and many other discomforts, if the Red Cross wasn't in existence. Through its activities these men are located, nurtured and kept in contact with news from home. Think of that before you turn down the opportunity to give generously, to keep the RED CROSS always at the side of our fighting forces.

Time Change Set Here for April 2

Sunday, April 2, will find Marion residents arising an hour earlier by the sun if they hope to get to church and meet other engagements on time. That is the date clocks will be set forward one hour if legislation adopted by the city council last October is followed. At that time, records show, an ordnance was adopted by the city council, putting Marion on Eastern Standard time until the first Sunday in April. On that date, the ordinance provides that the time automatically returns to Eastern War time. The change will come up for informal discussion by members of council before that time, Mayor Harry L. Bowler said today.

For the 150 aircraft types of the Army Air Forces, 500,000 different items are required.

IDA LUPINO AND PAUL HENREID, above, are seen in "In Our Time," feature picture at the Ohio theater for seven days starting Tuesday.

"Lifeboat" On Screen at Ohio

Tallulah Bankhead and William Bendix in Leading Roles.

"Lifeboat," the story of a "cross section" of society embodied in nine people set adrift in a small life boat after their ship is torpedoed by a Nazi submarine, is showing now through Monday at the Ohio theater.

Three women and six men are in the group cast together in a fight for their lives after the ship goes down. Stripped of the veneer of civilization and with no law but their own and that of the sea they work out the problems of existence.

Tallulah Bankhead appears as Connie, a beautiful, mink-coated newspaper correspondent, who writes her story of the sinking. Gus, played by William Bendix, is a jive-mad sailor from Brooklyn, who can think of nothing but "Rosie" and Roseland. Walter Slezak plays the part of the commander of the Nazi sub which sank the boat. He repays the group for saving his life in typical Nazi style. Also passengers in the boat are Lieutenant Alice, an American Army nurse, Kovac for whom Connie sets her eye, Rittenhouse, a business tycoon, Sparks, who always wanted an ocean voyage for a honeymoon, and Joe, who sees men and women at their best and worst in the drifting craft.

The film story, based on a story by John Steinbeck, is directed by Alfred Hitchcock.

"In Our Time" Booked

The antagonism between aristocracy and peasant, democracy and feudalism is illustrated by the two leading characters of the drama, in which Miss Lupino is cast as a modern English girl and Henreid plays the part of a Polish count inhibited with the customs and traditions of the feudal system.

Other characters in the play are an intolerant spinster belonging to a feudal past and Countess Orvid, who has the poise and understanding of a great lady.

'Madame Curie' To Be at Palace Four Days Starting Tomorrow

Greer Garson, Walter Pidgeon, Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Dame May Whitty in Cast.

"Madame Curie" starring Greer Garson, Walter Pidgeon, Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Dame May Whitty will play Sunday through Wednesday at the Palace theater.

"Madame Curie" reviews the life of the woman who was to become the famed Marie Curie. She met her husband, already a well-known scientist, while studying in Paris and working in his laboratory. One day when she fainted from hunger, the doctor took pity on her and soon found himself in love with Marie.

After their marriage the Curies continued to work together to isolate the mysterious element they called radium. Though the universities of Paris refused them funds for research they were determined to find the secrets of this powerful substance, even though they are forced to work in the cold of an unused shed.

After disappointing years of work they are at last successful. The university belatedly recognizes their contribution to science and promises them a laboratory for further study. On the day of the dedication of the new building Pierre is killed in a street accident and the partnership that brought radium into use for man was ended.

Henry Traverse and Dame May Whitty are cast as Dr. and Mrs. Curie, the parents of Pierre. Sir Cedric Hardwicke portrays the noted scientist, who visits the Curies in their laboratory to urge that they continue their experiments.

"Where Are Your Children" starring Jackie Cooper and Patricia Morrison will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

In the story "Where Are Your Children" Gale Storm is cast as a girl who accompanies her new-found sailor friend to a night club. Miss Storm is brought to the attention of Miss Morrison, playing the part of a probation officer. After Jackie joins the navy Gale takes a ride with a group of supposed friends only to find herself involved in a murder when the ride has come to its end.

Everybody Agrees

THERE can be no doubt that such American accomplishments in war as our recent naval successes in the Pacific, our massed air raids on targets in Europe and our courageous and stubborn land-fighting in the South Seas and Italy have revived confidence in national ability to carry out the people's intentions.

Behind the fighting fronts, confidence has been strengthened by records of industrial achievements far greater than anticipated. Criticism to the contrary notwithstanding, there is a general undercurrent of pride in what the country has done and is doing in the line of war. The war effort has been a tribute to national strength when applied to a single purpose.

There has been such a convincing demonstration of American ability to serve American needs that a commentator like Walter Lippmann believes "we need no longer the capacity of the nation to meet its tests and to fulfill its destiny." The Baruch-Hancock report, likewise reflecting the new national confidence, is written entirely on one theme: "There is no need for a post-war depression." An economist, Stuart Chase, declares that the United States can devise the financial means to do after the war what it has proved it had the physical means to do while the war was in progress; namely, to meet its own needs. In every round table discussion of spokesmen for labor and management there is complete agreement on the tremendous possibilities of post-war employment if forehanded action is taken to deal with the problems of reconversion as they arise.

The United States is as close as it ever gets to unity of opinion. There is complete agreement on national need and national capacity for the same kind of post-war vigor that restored national confidence during the war. For the first time since America began to doubt itself, at the beginning of the depression, it is able to look at a national problem without feeling licked in advance.

Guess Who

THE same union business manager who got attention last summer for charging United States soldiers union dues when they helped rave the New Jersey tomato crop is back in attention with a demand for dues from German prisoners of war working for a private employer under a contract with the army.

The interesting thing about the proposal is the three-way stretch it creates. The army says that collecting union dues from war prisoners is a matter between the union and the employer. The employer says it's a matter between the union and the army. The prisoners, not being consulted, don't say anything. They just do the work.

It isn't likely any union dues will be subtracted from the 80 cents a day they receive from the army. Nor is it likely the dues will be subtracted from the difference between their 80 cents and the going wage rate called for in the army's contract with the employer. It will be subtracted from the employer—the guess-who that always ends up in the middle when unions and government get into arguments over collective bargaining.

War Power at the Peak

APART from the serious predicament of colleges and universities and the upset plans of students withdrawn from the army specialized training program, the decision to cut back the program to minimum levels means that war power is now approaching its peak. This is, of course, the only aspect that matters.

If, despite the effort to convert every potential fighting man into an actual fighting man, the United States still were not relieved this summer of the manpower drain of the European war, it would have to settle down to the prospect of a long war of attrition. That is why the effort to bring the military services to both quality and quantity climaxes this year is important. That is why the difficulty of raising draft quotas is so serious. It is a case of now or perhaps never. Commenting on the drastic reduction of the specialized training program, Secretary of War Stimson explained that reduction of soldiers in colleges from 145,000 to 35,000 was made "for reasons of imperative military necessity." This is the big year of the war for the United States—and the implications need to be understood at least as clearly here at home as they are understood by the enemy abroad.

So They Say—

Giving the devil his due, I don't believe they (the Germans) deliberately shoot at us, because they know we can go back and mop up their hospitals.—Lt. Maurietta Shoemaker, chief nurse at shelled Nettuno hospital.

In the peace to come, the New Deal will not be dead. If it is dead, the Democratic party will be dead and well dead.—Vice President Henry Wallace.

I have very little doubt but that after we cut out the military cancer (in Japan) we will find healthy tissue.—Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador to Tokyo.

When victory comes we don't want to err on the side of mercy, which we know the Germans will take either for weakness or stupidity. We don't think that in any single respect the Germans have deserved mercy. They have been merciless to us.—Escaped Dutch officer.

Dispute Over Tax Bill Traced To Refusal of President To Reorganize Cabinet.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE bitterness now between the President and congress over the tax bill stems directly from Mr. Roosevelt's refusal to reorganize his cabinet.

The President was elected for a third term in 1940 because the nation knew it had to prepare for war and that very probably it would have to go to war. With this in mind the War and Navy Departments were placed in the hands of new men—Stimson and Knox, Patterson and Forrestal, McCloy and Bard, Lovett and Gates.

For the mobilization of war industry, for lend-lease and shipping, though there was a good deal of fumbling in the early days, the same rule applied—new men, chosen for their known ability and unconnected with Democratic or New Deal politics, were brought to Washington—men like Nelson, Wilson, Batt, Stettinius and Douglas. These men and others like them whose names will no doubt be included when the nation makes up its roll of honor have been the civilian organizers of victory.

But for the so-called home front, though he has himself insisted repeatedly that it is inseparable from the fighting front, Mr. Roosevelt has clung to his old prewar appointees and henchmen. That is the sufficient explanation why, while the military war is so well conducted, the civilian part of the war is so unsatisfactory.

Tax Bill Ruckus

The affair of the tax bill is a conclusive demonstration. No one will assume or pretend that Mr. Roosevelt could or does have any mastery of the intricate problem of war finance. Few men have. He has to rely upon the treasury. So does congress. The treasury alone is in a position to speak with knowledge and authority.

But in fact the treasury does not speak with authority. There is no one in the treasury who professes to deal with war finance, not Secretary Morgenthau, or the general counsel, Randolph Paul, to whom congress will listen. It is idle to say that congress will not listen to any one from the administration; congress listens very intently and cordially to men of proven knowledge of their field and ability in action—to men like Marshall and King, Stimson, Ickes and Baruch.

Men speak with authority when they are known to be the masters of their subject. The plain fact is that Secretary Morgenthau is not the master of, he is not even a very apt pupil in the field of war finance. It is a credit to his modesty that he does not pretend to be and he has been according to his lights a devoted public servant.

But this is war and the secretary of the treasury should be more than a good chief clerk of treasury department. He should himself be the master of the problems of war finance, capable of leading opinion and shaping policy and directing his subordinates.

Now the fact that the President does not have a secretary of the treasury upon whose judgment he can lean has meant that Mr. Roosevelt's fiscal policies have been no more than a collection of unconsidered, casual and often contradictory statements based on memoranda supplied by small subordinates in the treasury department.

The message vetoing the tax bill, which infuriated congress, is on its face something that could not have been written, or even studied carefully, by the President himself. I do not know who supplied the ill-natured phrases and the bad manners. Whoever he is, he is a most unsuitable person to have anything to do with the high responsibility of the President's leadership of congress and the country. But it is evident that the calculations and the specific criticisms of the tax bill must have come from the treasury experts.

"Unequal to Task"

Now the character of these criticisms is evidence that the treasury is at present unequal to its task in war. The objection to eliminating the automatic increases under the social security law is a good example. In one paragraph the message complains that this provision deprives the government of more than $1,000,000,000 "new revenue."

But social security funds are not revenue and should never be regarded as government revenue. They are a trust. In another paragraph the message argues that the increased social security taxes are needed "to meet the claims that are being built up against the social security fund." Now when you give two quite different reasons for what you want your contradictory reasons do not convince anyone.

And nowhere in the message does the President give the sound argument which is that by increasing social security taxes now, funds which are inflationary if spent now, would be frozen until after the war.

The cardinal fault of the message is that the intellectual confusion, of which the case above is an example, has caused the President to object to the tax bill, not because it is a grossly inadequate tax bill in wartime, but because it is alleged to give "special privileges to favored groups."

Let us suppose that it does. Nevertheless, this is not the main point, and this is not the broad and solid ground upon which to make such an explosive issue on the eve of a wartime election.

The solid and broad ground for the President to stand upon is that we need much heavier taxation to control inflationary private spending in wartime. That is what matters. That is the purpose of any war tax bill. That should have been his theme

Presidential Power of Veto

Jackson First To Use It Freely.

THERE is no record of a presidential veto of any preceding major revenue bill, until President Roosevelt's angry rejection of the 1944 bill.

A veto—the word means "I forbid" in Latin—originally was reserved for bills which the chief executive considered unconstitutional. Andrew Jackson set the precedent of returning bills to congress merely because he didn't like them. His precedent, however, was not generally followed until after the Civil war.

Jackson pocket-vetoed a bill disposing of public funds, but no new taxes were involved. Woodrow Wilson vetoed a bill—and the veto was sustained—to levy higher import duties on certain agricultural products, but this was primarily a tariff measure. In short, aside from all other considerations, President Roosevelt has chosen to set another personal precedent in setting himself arbitrarily above congressional authority over revenue matters. At a time when congress already had been made touchy about its prerogatives by the issue over control of ballots sent to soldiers in a general election, resentment was inevitable.

There is no way to compare the use of the veto power among various presidents, because congress now works on a greater number of proposals than it did formerly and also because enumeration of vetoes without taking into account the kind of legislation involved is meaningless.

President Roosevelt's major vetoes have been as follows:

In 1934 his veto of the independent offices bill restoring cuts in veteran payments and government salaries was overridden.

In 1935 his veto of the bonus bill was sustained; in 1936, his veto of the bonus bill was overridden.

In 1937 his veto of a bill reducing farm loan interest rates was overridden.

In 1940 his veto of cotton crop insurance legislation was overridden.

In 1943 his veto of the anti-strike bill was overridden.

He was sustained twice, in 1943 and again this year, on a veto of the anti-subsidy bill.

Paper Is Vital Raw Material

By WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson.

In the following passages from a speech in behalf of U. S. Victory Waste Paper Campaign being conducted by American Newspaper Publishers Association, Mr. Nelson, chairman of the war production board, explains the importance of this project.

I NEVER have liked the term "waste paper" because there is no such thing, I have found. It isn't waste paper. Paper is a raw material of so many things, and I think that is the thing we often forget.

As I see paper in our whole economy — and I really didn't realize what it meant until we got into trouble with it — we live on paper. It is almost as important to us today as air and water, and I think one of the reasons why we have trouble in getting our collections up when we need them is because paper is such a common commodity; it comes into the houses of this country in all sorts of ways — as newspapers, magazines, wrapping paper, note paper and letter paper.

There are all sorts of ways, and our job is to try to teach people that paper, as not waste when it comes into their homes. It is the raw material for other very important industries, such as the newsprint industry, paper board, pulp of all kinds, containers of all kinds, building materials — nearly everything you can imagine. Paper is the raw material of all these industries. That is why I feel so confident that once the people in the country get the idea that we need it, that it is important to them, themselves, as well as important to the armed services to keep our whole economy going, that we will get well up over the goal of 8,000,000 tons a year.

The source of trouble was found in poor insulation, a defective lightning arrester and a defective high tension insulation above transformers of the C., D. & M. Will War Marriages Stick?

By Adelaide Kerr
Associated Press Writer.

ONE of the greatest problems we face in the post-war world is making our wartime marriages stick.

What chances do those marriages have in the light of our peacetime experience? What chance does an American marriage have compared with those in other countries? What is the most frequent cause of divorce? What factors seem strongest in holding a marriage together? Do children contribute to the strength of the marriage bonds?

The answers to those questions might help in solving our post-war marriage problems. And some interesting light is shed on those answers in the questionnaire, "What Do You Know About Divorce?" which appears in the March issue of The Ladies' Home Journal. It is prepared by Paul Popenoe, director of the American Institute of Family Relations of Los Angeles, Cal., a non-profit educational enterprise for public service. Mr. Popenoe says his statements are based on data gleaned from the institute's research over the United States and from standard statistical sources.

World's Highest

Here are some of the things he says about divorce:

The divorce rate in the United States is the highest in the civilized world. It has increased about 2,000 per cent since the Civil War, while population has increased about 300 per cent and the number of marriages 600 per cent. The United States divorce rate is 20 times higher than Canada's and it is believed to be twice that of Japan, which formerly had the world's highest divorce rate.

The average marriage, which goes into the divorce court has lasted ten years. The average is high because of the considerable number which lasted 20 years or more. One-half of all divorces occur before the sixth year and one-half after that.

The majority of divorced couples are childless and very few of the remainder have more than one child. Statistically, nothing tends to keep people out of the divorce court as much as the presence of children. Conclusions from several careful studies suggest that homes broken by "divorce, desertion or separation" contribute nearly four times their quota of juvenile delinquents. Children from such homes also make less sausfactory records in school and on tests of personality.

Rises with Prosperity

Divorce always accompanies prosperity. In boom times the marriage rate increases, and the divorce rate increases still faster. In times of financial depression the marriage rate drops and the divorce rate drops still farther.

What are the chief causes of divorce?

The complaints recited in divorce petitions usually have little relation to the facts. They are merely convenient epithets selected by an attorney to fit the particular laws of the state in which he is practicing.

But in a careful study of 792 married couples in California the men gave the most weight to nagging. The second complaint was lack of sufficient affection. Poor management of the family income was way down in 21st place.

In the same study the wives made selfishness and inconsideration their most serious indictment. Lack of affection and demonstrativeness was 11th in rank and insufficient income 25th. But "unsuccessful in his business" was second in order. It is not the actual amount of income that worries a wife, but the relative amount—the fact that she can not be proud of her husband.

Paul Popencoe's answers to the questions concerning divorce make a comment of great interest to the men and women who want their wartime marriages to stick. Material things are not half as necessary to a successful marriage as most people believe. The qualities of the spirit seem to constitute much stronger glue in welding the marriage bond.

The fastidious are unfortunate: nothing can satisfy them.—(La Fontaine)

was wrong, but he knew intimately and liked Stephen Early, Presidential secretary, Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire, the President's physician, and "Jimmie" Byrnes, war mobilization director. He talked the language of the agriculture department and he listened sympathetically to Vice President Wallace

McNary had been under fire for months from some of his more recently elected Republican colleagues.

He was not, they complained, raising enough "hell" when the administration made mistakes.

Unruffled, McNary went his way, ruling the minority with an iron hand that some resented, but such was his strength that none dared challenge him.

Had Been Reelected

McNary's death leaves senate Republicans up in the air. Only Thursday they reelected him chairman of their conference and leader. They picked Senator Vandenberg of Michigan as vice chairman of the conference, Senator White of Maine as permanent assistant and temporary acting leader, Senator Wherry of Nebraska as whip and Senator Burton of Ohio as secretary

Prominent Republicans said nothing would be done officially about filling the job for at least two weeks.

Likely candidates are Senators Vandenberg, no confidant of the White House, Bridges of New Hampshire, one of the President's most vigorous critics, and Taft of Ohio, who has shown a disposition to compromise but who gives no quarter when he attacks the administration on some fundamental issues

Allied Bombing Experiment Near Climax in Europe

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

We are rapidly approaching the climax of the allied experiment to determine how close we can come to bombing Hitler into submission

Less than a year ago British Prime Minister Churchill told a meeting of congress in Washington that the use of air power by itself to bring about collapse of Germany and Italy was an "experiment * * * well worth trying, so long as other measures are not excluded.' Since then we've let loose a crescendo of bombing which certainly contributed to Italy's collapse and now has reached an unprecedented peak of intensity.

True, the allied high command is preparing for the land invasion of western Europe on the theory that Hitler must be finished off in battle on the ground. We are depending on the aerial bombardment to pave the way.

Watching with Interest

Still, while it's generally agreed the invasion is essential if victory isn't to be unduly delayed, there can be small doubt allied fighting men are watching the outcome of the bombing experiment with tense interest They're wondering how long Hitlerdom can stand the round-the-clock assault.

I'm not predicting Hitler will be knocked out by air alone, I'm saying that we are rushing towards the climax of the second big scale experiment of history to see how close air power can come to defeating a nation The first effort was by Hitler in 1940-41 when he tried to blitz England into submission.

The fuehrer failed but we cannot judge the present offensive by what he did, for the striking power of the Anglo-American air fleets far exceeds his greatest effort.

We have numerical superiority and this is rapidly increasing. Hitler's luftwaffe, on the other hand, has reached that unhappy stage where U. S. strategic airforce headquarters in Britain is able to announce that concentrated American air attacks on German aircraft factories have so reduced Nazi fighter production that every enemy plane shot down in combat now is a vital contribution toward knocking Germany's airforce out of action.

Tedder Plays Role

The vast importance which the allies attach to the air in the present offensive and the coming amphibious invasion is shown by the fact that Commander-in-Chief Eisenhower's deputy on the western front is Air Chief Marshal Sir Arthur Tedder.

The stepped-up allied air offensive is directed at all German war production and defenses in general, at warplane plants in particular. The immediate objective is to neutralize the luftwaffe as quickly as possible and allied airforces in the Mediterranean are entering into this by striking eastern Germany from Italian bases, thus putting the reich under a cross-fire.

The allies are hunting out every warplane factory to destroy or cripple it. Second, they are bent on keeping the German airforce so constantly engaged Hitler's pilots and ground forces will become exhausted. And the allies are intensively gunning to knock out enemy planes in combat, because of Hitler's difficulty in replacing them.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26—Tenpoint ration stamps red and blue tokens as change will ease into use throughout the country starting tomorrow.

The new ration currency for buying meats, dairy products and processed foods becomes valid then, but the office of price administration (OPA) expects light exchange the first day since most stores will be closed.

Stamps to be used under the new plan are all in Ration Book No. 4—blue for processed foods and red for meats and fats Each stamp has a ten-point value regardless of the picture on the face.

The first red stamps valid for meat are A-8, B-8 and C-8 They may be used through May 20 Every two weeks, three new stamps will become valid.

Blue processed food stamps will be validated in sets of five at the start of each month, with the first series—A-8, B-8 C-8, D-8 and E-8—good through May 20.

As change for their ten-point stamps housewives will get tokens——blue in processed food purchases and red for meats and dairy products—and these will be good indefinitely. In no case, may stamps be cashed for a full ten points in tokens.

Along with the new stamps, brown stamps Y and Z for meats and green stamps K, L and M, for processed foods will be used until they expire, March 20 Unlike the new stamps, they will have figure 8, 5, 2 and 1—point values, as at present While they remain in use, one-point green and brown stamps will be given as change supplementing the token currency

STEP-NEPHEW CONFESSES FARM WOMAN SLAYING

Discharged Soldier Faces Murder Charge in Ohio Attack.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Feb. 26 — Discharged from the Army last September, because of a nervous disorder, Eugene Balon, 20, faced filing of a murder charge today after Sheriff William Hufford announced he confessed guilt in the beating, rape and strangulation of his step-aunt, Miss Myrtle Rogers, 41, in her farm home.

Arrested in Middletown yesterday Balon gave the following account, Sheriff Hufford reported:

Balon said he went to Miss Rogers' farm home Thursday to help with housecleaning He said he had no thought of harming her until, returning from the yard with a piece of two-by-four with which to prop open a window, he awaited her return from another room, then struck her twice over the head She fell dazed and he hit her again.

Balon was quoted as saying he raped the woman as she lay unconscious on the floor and then obtained a ten-foot length of rope, tied one end to the dresser, looped the hemp around her neck and secured the other end to a bedpost.

Balon returned to Middletown, Hufford related, but quoted him as saying he was "uneasy * * * I walked around all night." He arrived at the rooming house where he shared a room with his father about the same time as did the arresting officers.

G. O. P. Chances for Victory Better Than Party Voters Think, Poll Shows

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 26. — The Republican party's prospects in the coming presidential election are a lot better than the average Republican voter is inclined to think.

After seeing the GOP. lose three presidential elections in a row, the typical Republican voter is inclined toward a dark outlook when considering his party's chances for a presidential victory next November. Only about half of all Republicans in a poll just completed by the Institute say they think their party will win.

Yet an Institute survey on actual party strength, reported last week, shows that the Republican tide is running stronger today than at any time in four years.

On the other hand, at a time when Democratic party prospects are the lowest in four years, a buoyant optimism permeates the Democratic ranks. Nearly two-thirds of all Democratic voters say they think their party will win in November

To determine relative optimism in the two parties this question was put to voters by the Institute

"Regardless of what party you yourself favor, which party do you think will win the Presidential election?"

The results

What Democrats Think

65% of all Democrats think their party will win

17% think the Republicans will win.

18% express no opinion

What Republicans Think.

49% of all Republicans think their party will win.

31% think the Democrats will win.

20% express no opinion.

Actual party strength today, as reported last week on the basis of an Institute survey, indicates that the Republicans and Democrats are running virtually neck and neck. In terms of civilian vote, the party strength of the Democrats is 51 per cent, and of the Republicans 49 per cent. Normally the Democrats must have more than 51 per cent—in fact, usually more than 52 per cent—of the popular vote in order to win a majority in the electoral college.

LANDON

he is marching left is essential to the nation's security."

Landon predicted "when the American people grasp the true significance of the chaotic condition created by the President in his intolerance toward the congress then I am certain that this most unusual and unprecedented and dangerous situation will be corrected next November.'

"Grass roots sentiment indicates the President has lost touch with the people," he added "His 11 years in office has apparently given him a royal complex, which accounts for his waning popularity."

The former Kansas governor referred only in general terms to the series of events which culminated in passage of the tax bill over the President's veto. But he cited "lack of unity and coordination" between the legislative and executive branches, adding:

"It is perfectly obvious that Mr. Roosevelt has bungled the president's historic relations with the congress just as he has bungled the administration of war regulations. This bungling jeopardized our military accomplishments present and future. It will be a terrible hurdle for post war reconstruction both at home and abroad. World confidence in us is being shattered.

"The President's petulant attitude and intemperate language in the midst of our greatest national emergency aroused righteous indignation in the congress regardless of party affiliations."

Ashland Defeats Harding, 67 to 58, To Win League Basketball Crow

Presidents Are Outdistanced in Second Half by Speedy A's.

By CHARLES ELLIOTT

Meet the new champs—a collection of well-trained energetic and athletically proficient young men—the Hilltoppers of Ashland High school.

The Ashlanders won their first North Central Ohio conference basketball crown in seven years by letting loose with all their vaunted court fury and flash to defeat the runner-up Marion Harding Presidents, 67 to 58, before 1,500 fans in the Ashland High auditorium last night.

A. L. Buckner's Hilltoppers proved they were the better ball team by dishing out a grudge parting to the Prexies but they didn't experience a picnic in doing it. Not until the third quarter were the favored A's able to assume a lead. Harding having maintained the initiative throughout the first half. It was not until the very last period that it became apparent to one and all that the Presidents were out of the running.

You can readily see that the Ashlanders under the capable and sometimes miraculous guidance of Coach Dewey N. Bohyer gave the more expert Hilltoppers a first-class battle. And Harding is to be commended highly for that. It was the plaintful loss of first string players in the last quarter on fouls that ultimately paved a clear-cut victory path for the Ashlanders. Coach Buckner's charges showed they were a good, if not great, ball team by coming from behind and finishing with a scintillating drive that seemed to have the tiring Marion visitors gasping for a few extra breaths.

This win gives Ashland a final standing of nine victories and one setback in 1943-44 N. C. O. loop play. Harding wound up in second position with eight wins and two blemishes. The lone Hilltoppers loss came at the conclusion of the first round when Harding topped the Ashlandmen, 50 to 47, in a rowdy and rough game on the small Edison Junior High school floor here. The other Presidents defeat was administered by the Redmen of Bucyrus High, 34 to 29, in the first round.

First Title Since 1937

By kayoing the Chief Executives, the Toppers rang up their first N. C. O. pennant since the 1937 campaign. Harding won the crown last year by beating Ashland, 52 to 42, in the finale, and in 1942, Marion and Ashland tied for top honors.

The Ashland team performed as a well-oiled carefully groomed unit, but three Topper players were particularly in the spotlight—Forward Ted Jacobs, Center Russell Geisinger, and Guard Jack "Ruffy" Harris. This trio contributed 61 of the A's 67-point total, Jacobs getting 24, Harris 23, and Geisinger 14. Jacobs' tabulation, made on eight baskets and as many free throws, gives him a final total of 229 in ten league games—a record which probably won't be broken for several seasons to come. This mark is 39 points above the old record of 190 established by Harding's Dick Mulvaine last year. Harris finished second to Jacobs in the N. C. O. with 174 points while Geisinger had an even 100.

A boy who has been going great guns for the Presidents of late, Rex Kilbourn, was the main mechanism in Harding's offensive workings last night with 22 points on 10 goals and two free tosses—the highest total amassed by a Prexy eager this year in a single game. Kilbourn was as conspicuous as anyone could be as he harassed Ashland defenses with his ball pilfering and pass interceptions and led the President offense with his fancy dribbling and shifty floorwork. Jack Koeppen, who until the Shelby game last Saturday, was one of the best bench warmers on the Harding squad, was second high for the locals last night with 15 points on seven fielders and a free throw.

He did an admirable job in subbing for Center Chuck Fazio, who went out in the second quarters after his fourth foul commission. Captain Stew Young had 10 points for the Prexies and Forward Fritz Guy had nine.

26 Out of 88 Tries

Harding hit on 26 out of 68 field goal attempts for a 38 per cent average and Ashland fared worse with 26 buckets on 82 tries for an average of 31 per cent. Shots tried by Harding players follow: Guy 12, Kilbourn 20, Fazio 4, Young 14, Beach 4, Koeppen 11, and Shirk 3. Ashland shots were distributed in this manner. Schaffer 13, Jacobs 25, Geisinger 15, Harris 23, and Reese 11.

Ashland really won the game, not by action shots from the floor, but from the free throw line. The new titlists canned 15 of 24 foul-line attempts while Harding could made only six of 14. A total of 33 personal fouls were called by officials Jay Winters and Fred McClintock—22 against Marion and 11 against the Hilltoppers. This was a far cry from the 50 infractions called in the first Ashland-President contest.

The jubilation of Ashlanders, especially the players, was keynoted by their actions immediately after the game when they raised Coach Buckner to their shoulders in the typical fashion of a newly-proclaimed champion.

The first of the game, in which Harding was ahead all the time went like this:

First quarter—Fritz Guy dropped in a free throw for Harding and Stew Young connected on a sucker shot after a steal of the ball. After Guard Reese missed a free throw for Ashland, Young sank a semi-long for the visitors. Ashland was in the ball game on a sucker shot by Forward Jack Schaffer, his only points of the game. Young bucketed a long shot for Marion and Geisinger tipped in a two-pointer for Ashland. Ashland got 5 as Jacobs made a free throw and Harding 11 on another long set shot by Young, who made good four of his five first quarter shots from the field. Geisinger made a follow-up for the Toppers and Kilbourn dribbled in for two Harding markers. Kilbourn followed with a sucker shot, Jacobs made a free point for Ashland. Guy potted a free toss and Jacobs made a one-hand push shot for Ashland as the first period ended with Harding ahead, 16 to 10.

Second Quarter

Second quarter: Guy dropped through a free point for Harding. Jacobs while off balance scored a one-hander, and Jack Harris put in a one-hander for Ashland. Guy followed suit with a one-hander and Harris made a one-hand push shot for the Ashlandmen. Jacobs made a charity flip and Jack Koeppen pocketed a one-hander from the side for the Prexies. Guy made a sucker shot, Reece a follow-up for Ashland, and Koeppen a one-hander for the invaders. Harris tallied a sucker bucket and Reese a push shot on the jump.

Jacobs made a free throw as Ashland approached within a point of the Prexies, 25 to 24. Kilbourn dunked a sucker shot for Harding. Jacobs then put through two free throws to tie the game at 27-all with less than a minute to go in the half. Harding finished the half in front, 29 to 27, on Kilbourn's pivot shot.

Geisinger opened the second stanza for Ashland with a side shot which deadlocked the game at 29 to 29. Harding went ahead on a sucker shot by Guy. Ashland tied with a one-handed push shot by Harris and went to the front with a free point by Harris. Jack Koeppen put Harding back in the lead on a sucker shot and Ashland took its turn on the positive side of the teeter-totter on two free throws by Harris. Jacobs caged a sucker shot and Kilbourn a dandy from the pivot for the Prexies. Ashland stretched the advantage to 40 to 37 on a follow-up by Center Geisinger. Harding got 39 on Kilbourn's sucker shot. Koeppen sank a free toss on his part of a double foul called against him and Geisinger of the A's. Ashland assumed a 46 to 40 lead on successive baskets by Jacobs and two by Harris. Kilbourn sank a one-hander and Koeppen a follow-up as Harding came within two points. Harding tied it up on Elvin Beach's only basket of the night, a one-hand set up. Ashland ended the quarter three points to the good, 49 to 46, in Harris's one-hand push shot and Jacobs' free throw.

Last Quarter

Fourth quarter: Young plopped in a long shot for Harding and Geisinger gave Ashland 50 on a free throw. It was in a 50 to 50 dead heat on Koeppen's follow up. Geisinger made a tip in for the hosts and Harris made a free throw and a one-hand push shot. Kilbourn hit on two free tosses for the Presidents and Jacobs follow up nicely for the Ashlanders. Geisinger made a free throw, Jacobs the same, Harris a one-handed two pointer and Jacobs a sucker shot in that order to boost Ashland's count to 63 to Harding's 52, which became 54 on a one-hander by Kilbourn. Koeppen tipped one in and Geisinger bottled a sucked shot. The game ended with Jacobs making a free throw, Kilbourn a one-hander from the side for the Presidents and Harris a for-nothing gift for the champs.

St. Mary Ends Busy Cage Season with 32-28 Loss To Crestline

Marion St. Mary's Irish ended their season in defeat by stumbling before the Crestline Railroaders for the second time this year, 32 to 28, on the Crestline floor last night.

The final statistical reckoning gives the Irish 11 wins and eight defeats in 1943-44 play.

Coach Lane McClaie's parochials had the lead on several occasions last night but it seemed to be too untenable. Last time the Irish were ahead of the Crestlinemen of Coach L. L. Hill was mid-way in the last period when the locals had 28 to the Railroaders' 26. Crestline proceeded to pour through three baskets in quick succession while St. Mary couldn't find the range for a solitary counter.

Just as he did in the first St. Mary-Crestline game, Railroader Milt DeJean was the top scorer for his team last night with eight points. He scored 17 points to serve as an inestimable aid in the 43 to 34 December Crestline triumph over the Irish. Forward Johnny Gray, a senior, matched DeJean's total last night on three field shots and two free throws. Steve Norris tallied three goals for six points, second high St. Mary scoring mark.

McGinnis Opens Scoring

Last night's game was under way when Danny McGinnis, St. Mary captain and roving guard, drove in for a sucker shot. DeJean quickly struck back for the Railmen with a semi-long. McGinnis brought his scoring chores for the night to an end on a semi-long set shot. After, Crestline forward, made a sucker shot and Dick Emmer, the other forward, sank a long shot. DeJean racked up a free point for Crestline. Center Jim Lawler marked up two points on a hook shot and after a Crestline time-out came back with a free throw to give St. Mary 9. After made a free throw and DeJean the same for the Railroaders.

Second quarter: Emmer packaged a semi-long. After a series of missed free throws, Steve Norris registered on a tip-in for the Irish. Guard Bob Wintersteller swished in a free throw. DeJean made a sucker shot for the Railmen and Johnny Gray made the same type bucket for the Irish. Steve Norris put St. Mary into the lead, 16 to 15, on a sucker shot. Crestline showed its heels on a sucker shot by Simmermachern. Gray made a sucker shot for St. Mary. Crestline finished the half on top, 19 to 18, after Bob Straka zipped through a semi-long.

Second Half

Third quarter: Center Simmermacher was good for a free throw and After made a sucker shot. Emmer tipped in for the Railroaders, who thus got 24 points to St. Mary's 18. Gray made a free point and Norris a sucker shot for the Irish as the period was terminated. Crestline 24, St Mary 21.

It was substitute guard Larry Leser who launched a fourth quarter rally for the Irish on a sucker shot. Gray made a long shot, which put St. Mary ahead, 25 to 24. Crestline again took time out at a crucial spot. Gray increased the St Mary margin to two points on a free throw. Crestline wiped that lead away as Straka put in two successive gratis underhanders. Leser made a sucker shot for the Irish who acquired their game total of 28. Crestline then went on to win the game by four points as Straka and DeJean potted sucker shots and After caged in a semi-long.

Following is a summary of last night's game:

OHIO STATE LOSES TO DEPAUL 61-49

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Feb. 26 — Ohio State's Big Ten basketball champions, their season ended with last night's 61 to 49 loss to DePaul in a spectacular overtime contest, today hoped for an upset which would eliminate one of the two remaining contenders for a share of the Western Conference title.

Its own basketball title hopes shattered by last night's 50-47 defeat by Illinois, Northwestern has an opportunity to knock Purdue out of a Big Ten championship share when the teams meet tonight at LaFayette, Ind.

The Wildcats' setback left Iowa and Purdue, the only remaining contenders for a shre of the title.

Ohio State sewed up at least a share of the flag by closing its conference campaign last week with a 10-2 record.

A Northwestern triumph tonight would remove the Boilermakers from the race and leave Iowa as a possible co-champ with Ohio's Buckeyes. Northwestern and Iowa close their respective conference seasons against each other in a two-game set next week.

Big George Mikan's 23 points, eight in the overtime session, boosted DePaul over the hump to give the Blue Demons their 18th win in 21 starts—a record expected to result in their choice as Fourth district representative in the NCAA eastern playoffs next month in New York.

Wisconsin shellacked Minnesota (1-8) 50 to 33, Great Lakes registered its 30th triumph in 33 starts in trouncing Toledo 77 to 29, and Bunker Hill Naval Air Station whipped Indiana 41 to 36. Baldwin-Wallace defeated Camp Reynolds, Pa., 78 to 43 at Berea, O.

BUCYRUS REDMEN DEFEAT MT. VERNON

BUCYRUS, Feb. 26 — Ending their N.C.O. season with a slate showing six victories and four losses, the Bucyrus Redmen avenged an earlier upset at the hands of Mt. Vernon by beating the Yellow Jackets, 44 to 29, here last night. It was Mt. Vernon's eighth league loss against two wins, a record which gives them a tie for fifth place with Shelby.

Jack Shuck, stellar Bucyrus forward, gathered eight baskets and five free throws for 21 points to run his total to 201 for all games this season and 144 for 10 league tilts. Dick Perkins, Mt. Vernon guard led the losers with 11 points. Last night's game was the last regularly scheduled high school fray for four Bucyrus seniors—Shuck, Johnny Gatchell, John Landis and Dick Zahn.

Claridon and Pleasant To Play in County Tournament Finals

Special to The Star

It will be Claridon vs. Pleasant in the finals of the 1944 Marion county cage tournament on a neutral Agosta court at 9 o'clock tonight.

These two teams battled to the championship contest with semi-final victories last night, Claridon beating LaRue, 25 to 18, at Agosta, and Pleasant stepping over Morral, 37 to 24, on the Claridon hardwoods. In consolation games last night, Kirkpatrick blasted Agosta, 50 to 29, at Claridon and Prospect surprised Waldo High's cagers, 43 to 29, at Agosta.

The consolation finals, the winner of which will gain a third place finish in the tournament and thereby a right to participate in the district Class B tourney at Westerville, will be staged as an 8 o'clock preliminary to the title game at Agosta tonight. Semi-finals in the consolation bracket were held this afternoon with Prospect playing Kirkpatrick and LaRue meeting Morral at Claridon.

The two tourney finalists automatically qualify for play in the district event.

The annual tournament championship trophies given to the title-winner and the runner-up, will be awarded after tonight's games at Agosta. The winner of the consolation final probably will receive the basketball used in the championship contest between Claridon and Pleasant.

Allen Augenstein poked in 10 points on four baskets and two free throws as his Claridon team came through with a low-scoring triumph over LaRue, third place team in regular campaigning During the season, Claridon the league crown-wearer, downed Don Burton's LaRue outfit, 25 to 21. Forward Ted Dennison, led LaRue scoring last night with six markers.

Pacing Merton Porter's Pleasant Townshippers to their win over Morral was Forward John Cusick, who tossed in six buckets and four free points for a 16-point total. Delbert Newland, star Morral forward, had 10 points on three field shots and four free throws.

Dick Hord was high for Kirkpatrick's tough club with 14 points in one of the consolation games. Henry Boles had nine points to head the losing Agosta team. Stanley Kirby, diminutive Prospect forward, scored 17 points to spark his team's win over Waldo, which was led by Dutt and Berringer, each with seven points.

Frequent Cleaning of Furnaces To Eliminate Fly-Ash Recommended

The burning of any solid fuel—wood, bituminous coal, anthracite, or coke, tends to produce a certain amount of fly-ash. This is simply small particles of ash that are light enough to be carried in the air currents sweeping through the furnace or boiler. There may be some soot or unburned carbon mixed with them, and soot is also likely to be found in oil-fired and gas-fired installations.

Most of these small particles of either soot or fly-ash fall out in the gas passages and tend to act as insulation. It is seldom that enough accumulates to seriously impair the draft, but the loss of heat due to the insulating effect is great enough to warrant cleaning at least once a month during the heating season and probably more often.

Steel furnaces are not always marked as to where and how they should be cleaned out. Mrs. McK. of Duluth, Minn., states her problem this way:

"We have two warm-air furnaces, both stoker-fired, in our apartment building. One of these is a conventional round, cast-iron furnace and has a door marked "Safety Valve Clean-Out" where the accumulation of fine ash can be cleaned out weekly. The other furnace is steel with a brick-lined firebox and I found no place on it to clean out. Where does the fine ash accumulate if there is no 'Clean-Out' on the furnace?"

Fine ash will accumulate in the radiator of a steel furnace. This is back of the firebox and usually is equipped with two outlets to the chimney, one above the other, and both are equipped with turn dampers. Those equipped with only one smoke pipe usually have a cap near the bottom of this radiator. By removing the lower smoke pipe, or the cap, the fly-ash may be cleaned out of the radiator. Care should be taken to remove it from the baffle just above the opening. All other types of furnaces and boilers are usually marked with "clean-out" or have doors for ready access. It is much easier and simpler to brush the accumulations back into the fire-box of a cast-iron warm-air furnace or boiler than to remove them through the clean-out doors. This will not smother the fire and the ash can be removed as clinkers or through the grates as the case may be.

Appalachian Coals, Inc., Transportation Building, Cincinnati, O., will be glad to give advice on any heating problem confronting you. Simply address a letter to the Chief Engineer, Appalachian Coals, Inc., setting forth your trouble and it will receive prompt reply. There is no charge for this service. Or a letter to the same address will bring free a copy of the booklet, "Stoker Etiquette," or a "Firing Chart." This literature explains in simple non-technical language the proper manner in which to operate your heating system in order to get the most heat out of your coal.

IMPROVEMENTS COME BY PATIENT EFFORT

Illustrating the fact that the most significant advances in the plumbing industry are not the result of revolutionary innovations but instead come from slow and patient research work is the constant improvement in the glaze on vitreous china plumbing fixtures.

While the lustrous glaze on a piece of vitreous china is responsible for much of the attractiveness of the fixture, it also has a very utilitarian purpose.

It is the glaze which insures sanitation by making the fixture impervious to moisture and free from crevices or cracks which might afford a breeding place for germs.

Furthermore, it is the glaze which makes the vitreous china fixture so easy to clean that the mere application of soap and hot water is sufficient to keep the surface lustrous.

The glaze, too, is responsible for the durability of the fixture and for the fact that a piece of vitreous china, providing it has good care, will last longer than the average house and, indeed, will outlast the lifetime of a man.

The durability and virtual indestructability of vitreous china is due to the experience of the industry and the care with which clays are selected and mixed. The compounding of glazes is not a hit or miss practice but instead is a highly technical process supervised by ceramic engineers.

Engineer Invents Air-Inflated Roof

NEW YORK—An "air-pressure roof," without framework or supports, has been found practicable to build for use as a storehouse, Prof. Joseph A. Wise of the New York University College of Engineering, has announced.

Invented by Herbert H. Stevens Jr., a consulting engineer, the roof, made of thin, flatsheet steel soldered to a steel ring base, was inflated with air from a pressure pump, during tests, to form a dome-shaped building.

The War Production Board gave the College of Engineering a contract to investigate the possibilities of the roof and Wise reported that it was "considered feasible to erect an experimental building, 300 feet in diameter. In one test, 800 pounds of lead were placed on a 40-inch model and the roof withstood the weight with no mishap."

Tests indicate it could be constructed quicker and cheaper than a regular steel and wood warehouse, Wise said.

Red Cross Trains Nurses Aides for Volunteer Wartime Service

Two Classes Graduated in Marion; Help Ease Shortage Caused by Registered Nurses Entering Service.

This is one of a series of articles reviewing the past year's activities of the Marion County Red Cross Chapter which will launch its annual war fund campaign on March 1. To carry on Marion county's share of Red Cross work here and in the nation and world, Marion county will be asked to raise $56,000 this year.

Two classes have been graduated as nurses' aides under the sponsorship of the American Red Cross, and the members are giving their time to helping in the care of patients at the City hospital and working at the Blood Donor unit. To date 34 persons have volunteered 872 hours at the hospital and blood donor center. Mrs. J. A. Dodd is chairman and Mrs. Wilbur H. Symes is vice chairman of the Marion County Chapter committee.

With 50,000 graduate nurses already serving in the Army and Navy Nurse Corps, military and civilian hospitals are turning more and more to the Red Cross Nurse's Aides, a civilian volunteer group, to help meet a serious situation caused by a mounting shortage of trained personnel, according to Mrs. Walter Lippmann, national director of the corps.

More than 110,000 Aides already have been certified after taking training course required. Of these, 1,000 with the most experience, are helping in military hospitals. Gratified civilian hospital superintendents say they could not operate their institutions at present capacity without the volunteers.

Typical of Help

One hospital, for instance, normally employed 104 graduate nurses. So many of the staff answered the call to military service that the trained staff is now reduced to 51 nurses. With the help of 13 paid practical nurses and 20 volunteer Aides, however, it is able to carry on.

The Volunteer Nurses's Aide Corps was organized as part of the national defense program three years ago, under a joint agreement between the U. S. office of Civilian Defense and the Red Cross. During the past year the number of Aides has doubled.

Following an eighty-hour intensive training course, the Aides give a number of hours regularly as assistants to graduate nurses relieving them of certain duties not calling for highly skilled training and knowledge.

Variety of Services

Besides those working in military hospitals, other Aides are serving in hospitals of the Veterans Administration, Bureau of Indian Affairs, in civilian hospitals on medical, surgical, orthopedic, pediatric and obstetrical wards, in accident rooms and in industrial clinics and in blood donor centers.

The duties undertaken by the Nurse's Aides are many and varied. They may, for instance, take temperature, pulse and respiration of patients and give morning and evening care, prepare and set up treatment trays to be sterilized; help apply plaster casts, help with unsterile dressings, aid in emergency rooms, serve under graduate nurse in casualty stations and first aid posts, assist graduate nurses in the care of victims of floods, tornadoes and other disasters, and give bedside care to certain patients in homes, under the direction of visiting nurses.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

A Sequel to Pitfalls of Love.

I HAD prevented Katie from dropping the breakfast tray of food she just had brought in to my study. But I was thankful that Hugh Grantland had taken mine from me, and set it down upon the table, not only because I was left free to rescue Katie, but because I was tremulously conscious that even my trained mental equipment of poise and readiness for emergencies, supposed to be superior to that of my farm helper, might not have saved me from letting my own tray crash at my first sight of "Mr. Howe," now revealed to be Lee Chow.

I did not have time to analyze my emotions, to determine whether stark amazement, gladness, or wholesome awe tinged with fear, predominated in the gamut they were running. As Hugh Grantland took Katie's tray to which both her unsteady hands and mine were clinging, I put everything aside save the hospitable gesture so clearly in order, and advanced with both hands outstretched to the pale, gaunt Chinese sitting in the big armchair from which the protecting blanket and shower curtain now had been removed.

"Welcome, a hundred times welcome, Lee Chow," I said, using the name which Hugh Grantland's close friends, the Chinese gentleman of high rank, always had insisted that I use, since my first knowledge of him, long years past, when, masquerading as a servant of low degree, he had enlisted my aid to rescue Hugh from a most perilous situation.

"No," I went on firmly, as he struggled to get to his feet, "you must not rise. I am sitting down right next to you for just a minute."

With a slight pressure on his hands,—he palpably was so weak but little was needed—I settled him back in his chair, and drawing a low one near him, sat down in it.

"Katie, will you please set the table?" I asked.

"Sure ting," Katie said, with her usual cheerful nonchalance and disregard of the proper procedure which have always characterized her, and have been so annoying to my punctilious mother-in-law. "Vere you have dot extra cup and saucer and plate I feex for you on your lap?"

"No, just set them on the table near the coffee poi," I told her. "I'll attend to them. When you've finished, gather up all the wet clothing in the bathroom, straighten the room, and take the wet clothing and towels to the laundry. Then tell Madam Graham that I will come to her room in a few minutes."

"You better make eet snappy," Katie said as she arranged the table with her usual skilled deftness. "Dot old vomans vill be feet to be tied eef you don't get oop dere pretty qveeck and tell her vot all de shootin's fer."

I am so used to Katie's adapting for her own use all the slang and odd expressions, dated and fresh, which she hears from the lips of the farmhouse family, that her little speech did not affect my risibles as it did that of her two masculine auditors. Lee Chow's Oriental poise enabled him to keep a smile from his lips, but his eyes twinkled with an amusement which I was glad to see—I had been afraid he was too weak for mirth—while Hugh Grantland chuckled audibly.

"The same old Katie," he said with affectionate amusement in his voice.

Katie paused on her way to the bathroom after having finished with the table.

"Veel, vun sure ting," she commented, "Me, I not same jung Katie eny more, but den," she added with a touch of malice, "needer are oder folks not mile avay!"

"Katie!" I expostulated sternly, but I knew vainly, for long experience with my faithful and temperamental farm worker—in pre-war times, my housekeeper—had taught me the futility of trying to make her over. We, as a family, long ago had decided that we would either have to get rid of Katie or put up with her idiosyncracies—and kept her.

I knew that any impertinence to Hugh Grantland in his military routine would have landed the offender in the guard house, or worse, but Katie used to be a delight to him, and he threw back his head with a guffaw that gave me a feeling of relief from strain and brought a giggle from Katie.

"You no forget how to fat, anyvay," she said, as she prudently disappeared into the bathroom. When she reappeared, we were so absorbed in conversation that she slipped out with her load of wet clothing without our really seeing her.

"It's so nice of you to have some coffee with us," Hugh Grantland had said a minute before. "But then, you knew you couldn't get away with anything less."

"Perhaps," I smiled, "I couldn't resist the company—and the coffee!"

"Whatever it was, we're the gainers," Hugh said. Then his face sobered.

"I want some advice," he said. "Lee Chow and I do not wish to take that six-five train from Bridgehampton tonight. We wish to remain here. But I do not trust that taxi man. I want him to believe we already have gone away, when he gets here tonight. And I need not remind you that whatever yarn or scheme we concoct must be fool proof."
